

Christ Church Charlotte

Associate Rector

for Spiritual Wellness and Care

What We Seek

We are seeking a new Associate Rector who can help lead our parish into an essential understanding of Christian spirituality and the role it plays in wellness. This important, emerging ministry will encourage and equip people to find deeper connections with God, leading to new paths of healing and addressing core issues in their pursuit of a better life and a better world.

Our new Associate will work in close relationship with a gifted team of other clergy and staff in the shared work of preaching, teaching, and program leadership, drawing upon the experiences and resources of a 6,000-member congregation with an annual budget of $5.6 million.

Christ Church is strongly committed to the pioneering work of nurturing the connections between spirituality and well-being. Like many churches, we have long-standing creative ministries in pastoral care. Through this work, which is shared among all of our clergy, we have become more acutely aware of the importance of spirituality for individuals, families, and communities, and the ongoing care of our congregation. We believe “spiritual wellness is having a connection with God that nurtures and inspires our life.”

While gratefully acknowledging the value of traditional medicine and other treatments, we also believe spirituality has an underappreciated role in helping people live resilient lives. We know that cultivating a deeper spiritual life has the power to prevent and ameliorate suffering, and to help people heal and recover from crisis.

Over the years we have benefited from the tremendous wisdom of guest speakers and collaborators – Lisa Miller, Ned Hollowell, Lauren Winner, Nora Gallagher, Kate Bowler, Robert Wicks, and Christine Moutier, just to name a few – who have served as resources and challenged us to imagine what this ministry can look like.

To learn more about our commitment to this kind of ministry, we invite you to read “A Church Invests in Mental Health in Response to Parishioners’ Suffering” at episcopalnewsservice.org/2019/07/11/a-church-invests-in-mental-health-in-response-to-parishioners-suffering.

We don’t expect you to have all the answers. We don’t have them either. But we are committed to exploring this life-saving work together.

What Our Associate Will Do

CELEBRATE AND HONOR the vision and mission of Christ Episcopal Church and the Episcopal tradition of diversity, equity, and inclusiveness that we proclaim.

WORSHIP AND PREACH in a variety of styles and settings: Rite I and Rite II, with formal preaching and rich music; our informal, participatory contemporary worship service; our relaxed family Discovery Service for the youngest among us in the parish hall; our Sunday evening service, employing a variety of music and readings from around the world; and other forms yet to be identified that help us draw near to God in new ways.

TEACH the essentials of Christian spirituality and help people make connections between spirituality and wellbeing. Organize and lead classes, workshops, retreats, and conferences, bringing together resources to help make Christ Church a wellspring of wellness for members and people in our community, the wider church, and the world.

COLLABORATE with our wellness team to create psycho-educational offerings to support people during times of crisis and recovery, responsive to the lived experiences of our parishioners. Promote teen and adult mental health wellness around such issues as grief, depression, addiction, and suicide prevention.

DEEPEN our efforts to train Christ Church members in the work of pastoral visitation and support to assist the clergy in pastoral care for the congregation. Develop and implement a model for training and ongoing support of these lay pastoral ministers.

SHARE responsibilities with other clergy staff in pastoral care, weekday liturgies or services, home and hospital visitations, baptisms, weddings, funerals, and other rites of the church.

There is a genuine emphasis placed on leadership development across the staff at Christ Church and especially with the clergy. Continuing education and personal leadership coaching are provided and encouraged for each of the clergy staff. These resources, partnered with ongoing vocational discernment with the Rector, make for dynamic ministries that occupy that sweet spot of vocation where community need and personal fulfillment meet.

OUR NEXT ASSOCIATE WILL BE...

- Committed to their own interior life and able to articulate the role of spirituality in their life and community
- Curious, with an interest and passion for the questions we all encounter
- Excited about how to connect Christian spirituality and practice to people's lives, families and community
- Experienced in working with individuals and groups
- Willing to commit to building and leading this ministry at Christ Church for a firm five to seven years.
- Energetic, passionate, and collaborative
- Digitally adept and technologically fluent
- Eager to learn our names and remember our stories
- A quick study who can easily assimilate into a complex organization
- Able to juggle multiple responsibilities, meet deadlines; self-motivated to set and achieve goals; accountable and organized
- A team player, willing to set aside his/her own work to help others, both clergy and lay staff, at busy times
- Versatile, joyful, and flexible
- Respectful of different opinions

OUR DESIRE IS THAT OUR ASSOCIATE...

- Be committed to self-care; devoted to emotional health as well as physical health; have a network of care to provide support for the long haul
- Have a rich and nourishing spiritual life lived out in regular prayer, study and meditation that grows his or her friendship with God
- Embrace high standards of behavior and performance and maintain a confident, authentic sense of self
- Model a balanced work-personal life by maintaining healthy boundaries
- Take all of her or his vacation and sabbatical time; stay rested and refreshed
- Make family and friends a priority

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT US...

- Pets are welcome in the office.
- Our clergy and staff are extremely collaborative, complementary, and non-competitive, and the clergy takes semi-annual retreats together.
- Some of our clergy stay a long time at Christ Church; others go on to become rectors or bishops. Either way, we are a greenhouse for priestly development.

Questions

Please respond to these five questions in 500 or fewer words each:

- 1) Describe an experience that was healing and restorative to you. How do you practice spiritual wellness in your own life?
- 2) How do you currently approach spiritual wellness in your professional ministry?
- 3) What ideas do you have for offering spiritual growth through worship, teaching, retreat, community, pilgrimage, and other experiences?
- 4) How might you use technology to lead or facilitate a ministry of spirituality and wellness?
- 5) Describe an experience that you led. What went well? What did not go well? What would you change? What did you learn from that experience?

WE WANT TO LEARN ABOUT YOU...

Once we start to get to know you better, our conversations might touch on these topics:

- Where do you find humor? Joy? Beauty? What energizes you?
- What life experiences have enriched you, enabled you to connect more deeply with people, helped you see God's grace at work?
- How do you stay connected to your community, your city, and the world? Which apps are on your phone? What music is playing in the background? What are you reading? When you go out to dinner, what kind of restaurant do you seek out?
- What credentials would you be open to exploring (for example, spiritual direction) or do you already have?
- How do you remain spiritually centered while at the same time being digitally connected?
- What are your Sabbath practices?
- Your career so far. Did you have a prior vocation? What brought you to the Church?
